The Colorado River Educational Compact is a higher education partnership that allows selected students' greater access to the quality instruction and related services provided by Arizona Western College and the other partner institutions. The compact establishes a tuition reciprocity program to enable selected undergraduate students from Arizona and California to attend participation community colleges without paying out of state tuition.

In order to participate in the program, a student must be:

1. an established resident of California (proof of residency is required and must be submitted with an application).
2. able to meet Arizona Western College admission criteria and submit an admission application.

Students selected for program participation in the order their applications are received, except that preference for selection is given to students living in the three California counties (Imperial, Riverside, and San Bernadino) adjacent to the Colorado River in accordance with the following program application deadlines:

Fall Semester	First Thursday in May
Spring Semester	First Thursday in December
Summer Semester	First Thursday in May

Additional California residents will be considered for selection into the program after the appropriate semester deadline is reached. The total number of students' participation in the program may not exceed the maximum provided by the compact. Applications for this program or changes in student residency status based upon this program's selection criteria will not be considered after the last day of late registration.

I read and understood the preceding criteria for selection into the Colorado River Educational Compact Program. I understand that by signing this document, although I will not be paying out of state tuition, I am not considered a resident of Arizona.
